

2022 Consumer Finance Legal Conference

October 03, 2022

Join McGlinchey's industry-leading Consumer Financial Services Compliance and Litigation teams, colleagues from complementary practice groups, and guest speakers for three fast-paced days of engaging programming addressing important topics affecting the consumer financial services industry. We will provide highly relevant content tailored to address the most pressing concerns of lenders, finance companies, and servicers nationwide.

This year's conference will take place from Wednesday, October 19 – Friday, October 21, 2022, in New Orleans. This year's agenda will feature a combination of large plenary presentations, interactive workshop discussions, and social and networking opportunities.

Some of the highlights of this year's conference will include:

- CFPB direction, enforcement updates, and other trends in the regulatory environment
- Practical application of fair lending
- UDAAP in the real world
- Ancillary products and mobility services in auto finance
- Hot topics in mortgage servicing
- Growth of virtual currency and its impact on the consumer finance regulatory landscape
- Update on state privacy law

For those who cannot join us in person, we will offer select conference sessions virtually so you can attend from your home or office, as well as connect with both in-person and virtual attendees. Please note that workshops and other break-out sessions will not be available to stream live. To join us virtually, please select "Virtual Session Registration" when registering through the link below.

This invitation-only event is free to our valuable clients, with invaluable CLE and networking with industry peers.

This program is limited to McGlinchey clients and prospective clients. A corporate email address will be required. We reserve the right to decline registrations that do not meet these criteria.
