

A White Collar Crime Crackdown

October 23, 2020

Member and Co-Chair of the Government and Internal Investigations team Bob Driscoll (Washington, DC) is quoted in an Axios article summarizing how the economy has resulted in a recent increase in government investigations.

Defendants, too, have every incentive to settle now. “Irrespective of politics, you don’t want to deal with a new team,” says Robert Driscoll, a former deputy assistant Attorney General under George W. Bush who now works in private practice at McGlinchey.
