

Ask the Attorney: What employers should know about recalling workers

July 06, 2020

Employers reopening in the COVID-19 pandemic face a variety of legal issues, including what to do when employees don't want to return, whether they can require them to self-quarantine, and how to handle a transition to a remote workplace.

Labor and Employment team members Mag Bickford and Kathy Conklin discuss the Top 5 questions they are hearing from clients and their answers to each with New Orleans CityBusiness.
