

COVID-19 and School Safety— Preparing for Widespread Illness in Your School

June 12, 2020

Mag Bickford and Kathy Conklin (New Orleans) co-authored an article for Law.com's The Legal Intelligencer addressing some of the best practices for educators to reduce the spread of COVID-19 as they return to the classroom.

“As we look to the upcoming fall semester and prepare for the future of education, what best practices must schools now adopt to comply with new laws and regulations that are developing to protect educators, employees and students from the perils imposed by COVID-19?”
