

Podcast: Do I need a lawyer? Government employees under investigation

June 23, 2020

The first word in any investigation is “stop.”

Government employees can find themselves in the middle of investigations and want to protect themselves. There’s no need to make this road any tougher than it has to be.

In Episode 1 of “More with McGlinchey,” our podcast on current issues and legal trends impacting your business, McGlinchey partners and co-chairs of the Government and Internal Investigations practice group, Bob Driscoll and Dan Plunkett, discuss what government employees should do when they come under investigation and share three steps that can be taken to minimize headaches.

download transcript

get more episodes

Are you eligible for FEDS Protection?Download

Federal Employees Coverage ExplanationDownload

Subscribe wherever you listen to podcasts:

Listen on

Apple Podcasts

Listen on amazon music

Listen on Google Podcasts

iHeartRADIO

LISTEN ON Spotify

Related people

Robert N. Driscoll

Daniel T. Plunkett