

DOL Delays Trump's Last-Minute Independent Contractor Rule

March 03, 2021

Labor and Employment Chair Mag Bickford (New Orleans) was quoted in a Law360 story following news of the Dept. of Labor's decision to push back implementation of the rule (instituting a multifactor test to determine whether to classify a worker as an employee or independent contractor) from March 8 to May 7.

"I would caution employers to take a broader view than what the pending regulation reads," Bickford told Law360. "It would be not surprising that we go back to the standard prior to the final rule published on Jan. 7."
