Attorneys are selected to Super Lawyers through a rigorous research process that includes an evaluation of peer recognition and professional achievement. No more than five percent of a state’s lawyers are selected for inclusion. Rising Stars are attorneys age forty or younger who meet the same high standards of criteria. No more than two and a half percent of a state’s lawyers are chosen for this honor. Since 2004, more than 70 McGlinchey attorneys have received the distinction of being included in Super Lawyers and the publication’s Rising Stars lists nationwide.
