

McGlinchey Stafford Honors Louisiana's African American Judiciary

August 16, 2010

Continuing an annual tradition that has extended nearly two decades, on Wednesday, August 12, 2010, McGlinchey Stafford PLLC co-hosted the Lionel R. Collins Dinner to honor Louisiana's African American judiciary. Close to 70 guests attended the event, including judges, lawyers and law students. The event was held at BACCO Restaurant in New Orleans in conjunction with the National Bar Association's annual meeting, with Louisiana Supreme Court Justice Bernette J. Johnson serving as the featured speaker.
