McGlinchey News Release

McGlinchey Stafford PLLC is pleased to announce R. Marshall Grodner, a Member in the firm's Baton Rouge office, has been elected Treasurer of the American College of Commercial Finance Lawyers (ACCFL).

Grodner was installed in this new officer-level role during ACCFL's 2017 Annual Meeting and Dinner, Saturday, April 8, 2017 in New Orleans.

Grodner's practice focuses primarily on commercial transactions, secured transactions, commercial finance, opinion letters, commercial real estate and gaming law. Known for his experience in secured lending, Grodner has an extensive practice representing both Louisiana and out-of-state lenders in numerous large commercial finance transactions, locally, regionally and nationally. He is a Fellow and past Regent within ACCFL, and previously served as the organization's Content Chair. Grodner received his J.D. from the Paul M. Hebert Law Center, Louisiana State University, in 1990.

ACCFL is a professional organization dedicated to promoting the field of commercial finance law through education, legislative reform, and the recognition of distinguished practitioners, jurists, and academics. The College offers a venue to promote and recognize outstanding achievement and advances in the field of commercial finance law and has established itself as a prominent honorary society of remarkable collegiality and as a learned, active, and influential participant in the field of commercial finance law. Nearly 300 preeminent practitioners and scholars have been inducted as Fellows of ACCFL since its founding.
