

Podcast: Personal Jurisdiction Part 2 – The Ford Cases

September 02, 2020

In the second installment of our “More with McGlinchey” series on personal jurisdiction, Rasch Brown, Gary Hebert, and Brian LeCompte (New Orleans) discuss the potentially groundbreaking Ford cases pending before the U.S. Supreme Court. Given recent Court precedent, is personal jurisdiction forever changed? How far will the Court go on this? This episode presents the Ford cases in some detail, discusses potential outcomes, and closes with commentary as to the impact of various outcomes.
