

Returning to the Office in the New Normal

July 20, 2021

COVID-19 has presented new questions for employers since March of 2019. The current focus is on how to return to the office where infection rates are declining but legal issues impact office practices for its employees. Other issues, such as vaccinations in the workplace, exposure liabilities, filling vacant positions, and competing for qualified employees in these novel times, must also be analyzed.

Mag Bickford (New Orleans) will give an update on these issues and illustrate best practices moving forward in our new world during the Society of Louisiana Certified Public Accountants (LCPA)'s Business & Industry Conference on Friday, August 13, 2021.
