

Three McGlinchey Attorneys Participate in 2024 ALM PropertyCasualty360 Complex Claims & Litigation Forum

January 31, 2024

Members of McGlinchey's Enterprise Litigation and Investigations, Labor and Employment, and Corporate and Real Estate teams will participate in multiple sessions during the ALM PropertyCasualty360 Complex Claims & Litigation Forum in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Ally Byrd (New Orleans) will co-present "Immediate Response Tactics for Catastrophic Claims" on February 27, 2024. The first few days after a catastrophic incident occurs are the most crucial hours in preparing a defense of a claim. Through real-world examples, this presentation will outline best practices for handling catastrophic accidents, how to investigate an incident to mitigate your company's risk of liability and damages, and suggestions for training employees to respond effectively to these catastrophic accidents. Attendees will leave this presentation with a clear idea of how to identify a catastrophic claim, how to immediately respond, and what to look for when preparing for litigation.

Chase Stoecker (Fort Lauderdale) and Lauren Ybarra (Dallas) will co-present "It's Not Easy Being Green: Cannabis Claims in a Budding Industry" on February 28, 2024. As the cannabis sector continues to grow, so do the unique issues for the legal and insurance industries. These challenges include the legal implications on worker compensation claims and product liability, as well as the impact on policy creation and product development. This panel will break down current trends in cannabis claims, and offer strategies for navigating this complex legal landscape so you don't get stuck in the weeds.

The Complex Claims & Litigation Forum aims to help insurers and litigators prevent, prepare, and prevail in complex claims cases and emerging risks. Learn more.

Related people

Chase Stoecker

Lauren Ybarra