

Construction Matter Before the Louisiana Supreme Court

March 17, 2009

Successfully represented a client before the Louisiana Supreme Court, the Louisiana First Circuit Court of Appeal, and the trial court on the issue of whether a contractor breached the contract with the client and whether the contractor was statutorily immune for its breach because the contractor alleged it had built the project in accordance with the plans and specifications (La R.S. 9:2771).

At oral argument before the Louisiana Supreme Court, we convinced the Louisiana Supreme Court that it should have never granted a writ in this matter. The Louisiana Supreme Court agreed, and it stated that after oral argument it concluded that it had improvidently granted the writ in this case.
