Professional services are all about relationships and I'm bleased to work alongside people whose company I enjoy.

Our team is competent, consistent, and humble; we genuinely appreciate each other and take pride in the services we provide. Victor Borge wrote that "Laughter is the shortest distance between two people" and I believe it is also a key to our success. Our team embraces a growth mindset and appreciates finding opportunities to improve what we do and the solutions we provide.

As CFO, Brian Baudot directs all financial and accounting operations for the firm and is located in the New Orleans office.

Prior to joining McGlinchey, Brian worked as a leader in notable business organizations located throughout New Orleans both in public practice and the telecommunications and healthcare staffing industries. His extensive experience includes developing strategic relationships, managing financial and operational objectives, and managing mergers/acquisitions.
