Consumer Financial Services Litigation

Having launched and operated successful businesses before practicing law, I have a distinct appreciation for the importance of incorporating legal analysis into business decisions. My initial approach to any matter is from the big-picture business perspective, and my entrepreneurial skill set is an asset in representing my clients. I enjoy discussing my clients' goals and using the framework of the law to help them get where they want to go.

Habib Nadri represents large national banks, lenders, insurance companies, and other financial services companies in various litigation matters. A seasoned trial lawyer, Habib is skilled at handling all aspects of litigation, mediation, and arbitration in matters ranging from consumer financial services litigation defense to creditors' rights, business and commercial litigation.

In particular, Habib regularly counsels and represents clients with matters arising under federal consumer protection statutes such as the Fair Debt Collections Practices Act (FDCPA), Unfair, Deceptive, and Abusive Acts and Practices Act (UDAAP), Dodd-Frank Act, the open-ended provisions of the Truth in Lending Act (TILA)/

Regulation Z, Equal Credit Opportunity Act (ECOA)/Regulation B, Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA)/Regulation V, and Electronic Funds Transfer Act (EFTA)/Regulation E. These laws are ever-evolving, and Habib is skilled at counseling major national banks with regards to compliance with banking and collections laws as well.

Being in the courtroom is second nature for Habib, who handled more than 40 bench and jury trials as a prosecutor in the Office of the State's Attorney for Baltimore City, Maryland. He is adept at helping clients manage high-stakes and complex claims. Beginning his career as a small business owner helps Habib thrive in a fast-paced environment, and he enjoys helping fellow business people solve problems so they can focus on pushing products and initiatives forward.
